MISSION

St. Joseph High School empowers young women of diverse backgrounds to recognize and maximize their potential. The school fosters academic excellence; supports students in their intellectual, emotional, and social growth and helps young women develop a moral and spiritual compass to direct their own lives and create a more just and peaceful world.

Guided by the philosophies and values of the Sisters of St. Joseph, SJHS is a private, Catholic, college preparatory school in downtown Brooklyn that prepares young women for their futures as responsible, compassionate, and confident leaders.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Our school community strongly believes that the intangibles really matter: love, unity and reconciliation.

Dear Alumnae and Friends of St. Joseph High School,

During the 2017 - 2018 school year many wonderful things took place at St. Joseph High School which resulted in excellent academic achievements as well as students challenging themselves in a wide range of extra-curricular opportunities. There were also many demonstrations of leadership and service as examples of students living out their faith. Much of our work revolved around the implementation of our Middle States Accreditation process, Designing Our Future 2018 – 2025.

Some additional projects in 2017–2018 included:

- Further sharpening our focus on critical thinking, communication, creativity and collaboration.
- Continued work on our appraisal system called Supportive Supervision.
- Expansion of our STEAM program included the creation of another Makerspace and the implementation of a 1-1 iPad program.
- School Masterplan - The purpose of our School Masterplan is to turn clear educational goals into a physical development framework to support the aspirations, vision and needs of our school well into the future.

The school design is intended to ensure the school's physical environment keeps pace with our vision for girls' education into the future.

Our school community strongly believes that the intangibles really matter: love, unity and reconciliation.

We nurture these qualities in our students to help them develop into mature, well-educated, socially responsible women.

I thank the Sisters of St. Joseph, parents, teachers, staff and Board of Trustees for their commitment to our students and supporting them to achieve their very best.

Mrs. Caroline Latham | Principal

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Since its foundation in 1904,
St. Joseph has provided exceptional educational opportunities for young women believing that if you educate a woman, you educate a nation.

Dear Friends of St. Joseph High School,

On behalf of the Sisters of St. Joseph, I want to thank all of you who provide generous support that is critical to our educational mission at St. Joseph High School. Since its foundation in 1904, St. Joseph has provided exceptional educational opportunities for young women believing that if you educate a woman, you educate a nation. For more than 114 years the St. Joseph graduates have made meaningful and notable contributions to our society.

All of you as alumnae, donors, mentors and community partners are enabling the faculty, staff and administration to develop the enormous power and potential in each of the young women who attend St. Joseph. With so many challenges facing us as a nation and as a global community, there is a need for educated leaders who have our mission of all-inclusive love, unity and reconciliation in their hearts and are committed to service and life-long learning. We are deeply grateful for all that you do for these young women and urge you to continue your efforts that truly transform young lives.

Gratefully,

ADVANCED PLACEMENT ENGLISH COMES TO ST. JOSEPH HIGH SCHOOL

After spending the summer at the Advanced Placement (AP) Summer Institute in English Literature and Composition, Ms. Turman, English Department Chair, came back excited to implement an AP program at St. Joseph High School.

She incorporated more literary theory, so that our students now have the ability to conduct analysis using Marxist, Feminist, Psychoanalytic theories and New Historicism. Student projects linked technology with learning. Whether designing mixtapes covers for the texts that we read, turning novels into Twitter conversations or thinking about how issues posed in 19th and 20th century literature are applicable in today's society, and posed solutions as to how they and their peers could create change.

Implementing AP classes at SJHS not only prepares our students for college courses, but it also shows colleges that they are more than ready for college-level work. This year, for the first time in SJHS history 14 students took the AP English Literature exam and, 13 students took the AP English Language exam in June.

JUDGE DENNY CHIN

In the Fall, Federal Judge Denny Chin of the Second Circuit Court, visited SJHS Seniors to discuss the Bernie Madoff Case.

Judge Chin also discussed his experience of being the first Asian American judge to be appointed to the Second Circuit. Impressed with the SJHS students, Judge Chin invited them to visit his courtroom at the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

SJHS FRESHWOMEN TAKE FIRST PLACE IN OWL POETRY SLAM COMPETITION

Simone Waugh from Generation Verb worked with some of our 9th grade class in a spoken word poetry workshop in which students learn the many elements of the craft, and perform compositions of their own. The students started first by reading unpunctuated versions of a poem on their iPads, knowing nothing yet about the poet – no race, gender, or any aspects of the authors biography – or the bodily and vocal gestures the author would use in the performance. Their first task was to take some guesses about how the poem would sound when performed, who its speaker would be, how the syntax would flow, etc.

Next, they watched the performance, while listening for punctuation pauses and marking them on their versions. The second time through, they listened for changes in inflection – the pitch of a speaker's voice rising and falling – and marked words and phrases where they heard such changes.

After reviewing a fully punctuated version of the poem and making comparisons to their own markings, they watched the performance again, this time observing aspects of body language including posture, facial expressions, mimicry, and the other ways the author used his limbs to shape pieces of the poem on the stage.

All of this work led up to a Poetry Slam in which each school performed their own works using their own style. SJHS took 1st place their very first time in the competition.

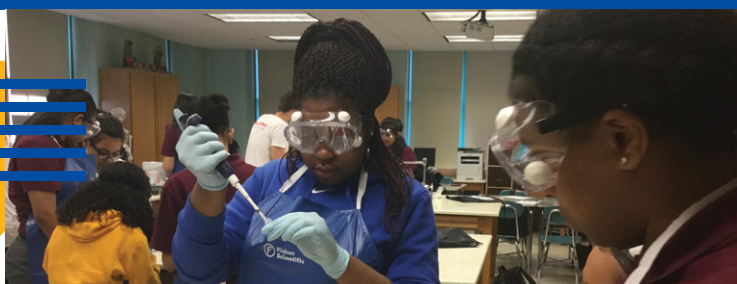

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT HIGHLIGHTS

Integrated Project: World of 7 Billion

As part of their annual integrated project, the freshmen competed in the "World of 7 Billion" video contest. In teams of three or four, the girls tackled environmental and social justice issues relating to the advancement of women and girls, feeding 7 billion people, and pollution. They identified the problem or issue that they wanted to focus on, gathered current data and research on their issue and developed a sustainable solution. As part of their research, they had the opportunity to visit the United Nations to learn more about the UN Sustainable Development Goals, which tackle the same issues facing today's world. Finally they let their creativity flow as they created, starred in, directed and edited a one-minute movie, using our recording studio and film production resources, to share the issue and potential solutions.

Fischer Scientific Partnership

In partnership with Fischer Scientific, one of our country's leading lab and hospital supply companies, DNA analysis was brought to life in the SJHS classroom. Their program, "Innovation Nation" cultivates student interest in STEM fields by bringing professional equipment and procedures into the classroom. As we finished our unit on DNA, they brought DNA samples to analyze using gel electrophoresis. This is the same procedure used by forensics lab technicians and geneticists to compare DNA found at crime scenes, test for genetic abnormalities and determine family relationships. Our students loved the hands-on, real-life experience that this partnership provided. Hopefully, we have inspired some future forensic analysts and geneticists.

COLLEGE PREPARATION

AND PLACEMENT PROGRAM EXPANSION

Jamie Giordano counsels a group of students

St. Joseph High School Counseling Office works with each student individually to develop a meaningful educational and career plan which is compatible with the student's life goals and maximizes the student's potential and success.

It is a continuous and consistent process which is built upon the basis of frequent, accumulated personal contact between advisor and advisee. Mr. Giordano came to SJHS from The Theatre Arts Production Company School with about six years experience as the Director of the College Center. As Director of the College Center, Mr. Giordano provided a variety of college counseling services including admissions and placement, scholarships and financial aid.

Since coming to SJHS, Mr. Giordano has worked with each junior and senior on a variety of college related endeavors including preparation/registration for the PSAT and SAT, college applications, financial aid, scholarships, and a variety of enrichment programs. Under the guidance of the college office every senior has taken the SAT, applied to college, and been accepted to college. Students have received millions of dollars in scholarships, grants, and nominations for a variety of highly competitive scholarships. We have had a finalist for the Posse Foundation scholarship. Every student also receives personalized assistance with the writing of a college essay. Each essay is critiqued and edited on an individual basis. Freshwomen and sophomores also receive information through presentations regarding the college search process.

The college office provides students with access to a personalized website dedicated to posting information covering all aspects of the college admissions process. In-class presentations are provided to all students on a variety of topics including the financial aid process, the college admissions process, preparing for the PSAT, and understanding PSAT results. Each senior meets individually several times during the year to develop a plan to meet her needs. Each student is also provided with one-on-one assistance with the FAFSA, CSS Profile, and completion of the commonapp, SUNY app, and CUNY app. Parent Information nights are held regarding the financial aid process and the college application process for both juniors and seniors.

IN 2018, 94% OF OUR GRADUATES RECEIVED FULL OR PARTIAL SCHOLARSHIPS TOTALING WELL OVER $15,000,000.

FULL STEAM AHEAD

1 1:1 IPAD PROGRAM

One of our major goals at ST. Joseph High School is to foster a strong cross curricular focus on innovative STEAM education by successfully implementing a schoolwide 1 to 1 iPad program. Every student and teacher is now equipped with their own device. By integrating Apple TVs into each classroom projector, students and teachers can broadcast what they write on their iPads directly onto screens to truly create a collaborative learning environment.

Teachers can distribute digital worksheets where students can fill out labs, draw graphs and submit quizzes or tests, without the needless waste of paper. Research has also shown that the action of writing by hand allows your brain to better process and retain information, making the right type of iPad integration truly offer the best of both worlds.

From a teacher standpoint, there are numerous benefits of incorporating this technology into the classroom; from increased control over the content that students are accessing through the use of Apple Classroom, to seamless delivery of course materials and access to vastly wider and more interactive array of available content.

GEOMETRY

In Geometry class with Ms. Hu, students learn to utilize graphing apps that show students the relationship between formulas and shapes. By changing values on the fly, they are able to see how a shape scales, or they see how changes to functions affect trigonometric graphs. Students are able to draw onto their iPads and can engage in a variety of apps that Ms. Hu introduces with each topic.

SCIENCE

By implementing apps like Kahoot, Science Department Chair Mrs. Barron can turn her class on the study of cells, biodiversity and climate change into a game show. Questions are broadcast onto the board and each student's iPad receives multiple choices to choose their answer. Sometimes students are put into groups to discuss their answers while engaging in friendly competition with the rest of the class for the highest score. Students in all sciences also complete and submit all of their required Regents labs via Notability and Google Classroom.

HISTORY

In Government and Economics 12, where students are studying different conceptions of human rights, Mr. Kallo can ask students to research several different news articles by accessing content approved websites. Students learn how to research different sources of information and see how each provides a different viewpoint. After reading these articles, students can share their findings in Google Docs in order to collaboratively discuss and provide critical analysis on each others opinions.

ENGLISH

In Ms. Turman's English class, students can find all of their books and reading materials on their iPads. Allowing them to highlight and make annotations all throughout their digital texts. Whether it is recreating famous scenes or creating video infomercials on real world issues, it is all done using the iPad.

2 LAUNCH OF FAB LAB CURRICULUM

From the first day of class, students are encouraged to start thinking of themselves as makers and inventors, not just consumers of products and goods. This can be an exhilarating, but also an intimidating idea. Some students are sure that their creativity cannot extend to the realms of science, technology, engineering and math, and hesitate to connect them to their interest in arts such as drawing and storytelling. As young women, they have often assimilated the idea that such activities are “for boys,” causing them not to even consider if they might have interests and talents of their own that could grow and flourish in one of the many STEM fields.

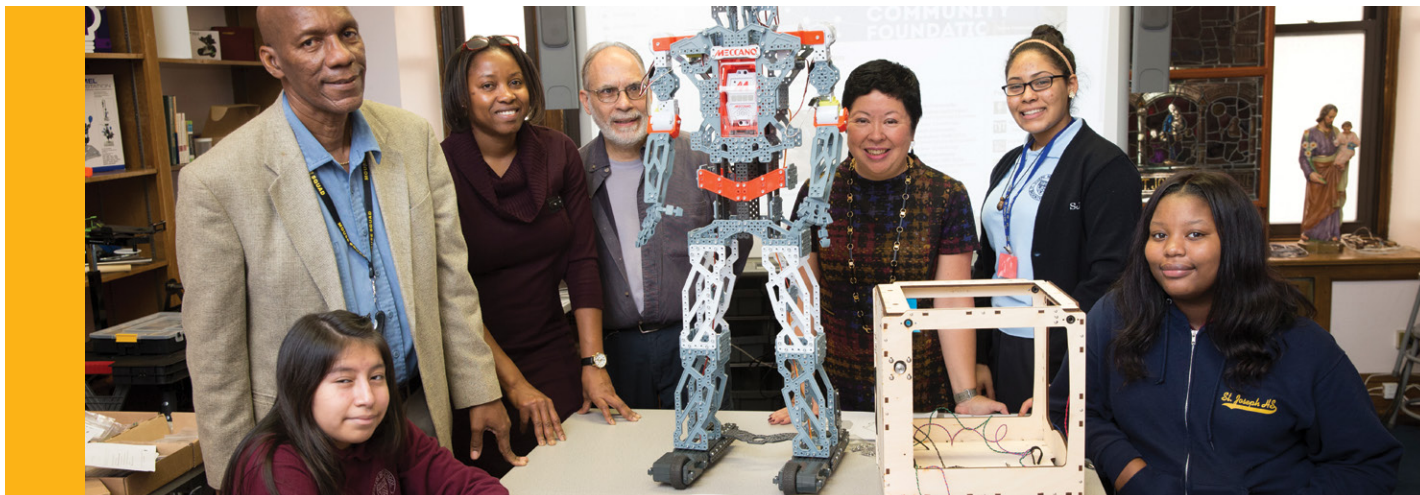

By starting out with fundamentals, our students gradually gain confidence and skill, utilizing all these tools and many others to both design and fabricate their own creations. In the ongoing, deeply collaborative process, they also learn crucial communication skills and develop lasting bonds of friendship with their classmates.

Our FabLab students learn that their ability to create using increasingly complex tools is what allows the human species to survive and thrive in the world. Gaining a rich understanding about the properties and potentialities of natural and synthetic materials, students learn how to design and fabricate objects that will be functional and durable. In this way, they begin to see the important connections between manual and digital tools, and to understand that even the most sophisticated digital creation depends on a highly developed understanding of the material, concrete world. Before designing prototypes on the computer, they learn to design by hand, and after designing on the computer, they learn how to test their projects out in the real world. At a time when employers are reporting a dearth of qualified candidates for skilled design and manufacturing, particularly in male-dominated fields of work, this kind of knowledge provides SJHS students with a much-needed skill-set that will benefit them in their future careers and beyond.

3 SUCCESSFUL IMPLEMENTATION OF ELECTRONICS, CIRCUITRY AND CODING INTO 9TH GRADE PRINCIPLES OF TECHNOLOGY.

The Technology Fundamentals class provided all 9th grade students an overview of multimedia applications, digital citizenship, sewable technology, coding, robotics, circuitry and electronics. The express intent was to expose the students to opportunities in the various fields of technology. Over the past year students, by learning the basic concepts and theories governing the field of computer science, robotics, electrical and electronic engineering, were able to complete individual lab assignments and team projects given to reinforce each lesson. These activities, while hands on were done in conjunction with Apple, Google and Microsoft applications which helped to strengthen the core concepts of each lesson taught. By engaging the students with this approach, it produced a highly favorable result.

4 IMPLEMENTATION OF ROBOTICS PROGRAM

Many students who start out in the Tech Fundamentals class also join the Robotics Club, a partnership with NYU Tandon School of Engineering where students can keep exploring their interests in engineering and computer science through fun activities and challenges. In the Robotics Club, Ms. Green has seen one hour meetings easily turn into two and half hours. Once the students get engrossed in the projects, she observes eyes brighten and minds engage – ideas flow back and forth across the room, and students share what they have figured out with one another, generating a dynamic – maybe even an electric – atmosphere. This year the SJHS team placed 3rd at the NYU ITEST Innovention Competition.

5 SUCCESSFUL IMPLEMENTATION OF ENGINEERING COURSE

This new course, available to sophomores has three main tenets common to all fields of engineering: Communication, Collaboration, and Iteration. This structure encourages students to consistently refine their work as they study free-hand and technical drawing, and try out the processes of engineering design. Visual, written and oral communication allow students to share their ideas and findings. The focus on collaboration and iteration forms an environment where the major aspects of any engineering endeavor are gradually learned by osmosis.

One of the outcomes of this class is that it is applicable to many other fields of study; academic research of all kinds depends on the same method of collecting information, finding and posing a problem, suggesting a hypothesis or plan, testing out that hypothesis in relation to the real-world constraints, refining the original plan, and then repeating the iterative process several times until the best possible approximation is reached.

In Engineering class, students discover that existing within space and time, and by extension engaging in activities such as designing buildings and objects, is fundamentally, and literally “hands-on”. Students were hands on in the woodshop, not only learning measurement and technical drawing, but also applying their skills to a variety of school wide projects such as building desks, coasters, etc.

ALUMNAE SPOTLIGHTS

LAURE RAYMOND

SJHS class of 2014 Laure Raymond graduated from Barnard where she was a Biology major. When asked why she chose that major, she replied, "Because I love Biology!" In June, she headed off to Liberia to volunteer with the Peace Corps for 2 years as a high school science teacher where she will be able to share her passion for Biology with her students.

Laure's interest in the Peace Corps began in her junior year at SJHS, in Mr. Cooke's Business Class. Having been assigned a "5 year plan" project, she began to research what she might do with her interests in science, medicine, and humanitarian aid work. In the process, she came across the Peace Corps website and was immediately drawn to the mission: to bring trained volunteers to communities worldwide in need of assistance and to improve the relationship between Americans and people in served communities.

Before Laure entered high school, she considered herself to be a solitary, quiet person, reading and studying on her own. But upon entering the tight-knit SJHS community things began to change.

For the first time she made friends - her "family away from family". Her friends would push each other to go above and beyond in their classes and other activities. Just for fun they would debate all kinds of topics together, and they challenged each other to be "strivers," seeking to learn and grow as people as well as students. For Laure, this social growth was the most significant and lasting aspect of her time at SJHS. Laure will tell you, "You're not made to be rigid! You're made to grow."

"You're not made to be rigid! You're made to grow."

GENELLE SONSON

"It's fascinating to see how a tiny baby could grow into anything - you never know what will happen in the future. And we all started at that point!" A freshman at St. Peter's University, Genelle Sonson (SJHS '17) aspires to be a neonatal nurse.

When Genelle came to St. Joseph's she initially found much to complain about, and struggled to find her path. But several things happened during her senior year that changed her perspective. She took a risk and tried a new sport. Having participated in dance for the previous three years, senior year found Genelle discovering how much she enjoyed running. With a new sport came a new coach, and she flourished under Coach Akil's guidance. "Don't let anyone count you out," he repeatedly told her, pushing her to grow in dedication, discipline, and determination through rigorous daily training.

While school was becoming more exciting, tuition was becoming a serious financial challenge. With four siblings and increasing costs, it became almost impossible to make ends meet. St. Joseph High School worked with a fellow alumna, Dr. Joan Tansey '54 to award Genelle with a full tuition scholarship to get her through senior year.

But then, another obstacle presented itself; a hand injury she received while running turned into a serious infection, and suddenly Genelle was in the hospital on the verge of losing her left hand, missing classes and wondering if she would ever be able to run again. The healing and recovery process was lengthy, and her hospital was so far from school that it was difficult for friends to visit. The day she was to be discharged, she heard a knock at the door. She expected to see a nurse walk in, but instead it was Principal Latham, carrying balloons! Genelle was truly surprised and moved. She recalls this day as her best memory from high school because it was the moment she realized that SJHS is far more than just a school - it's a community of people who care about you.

As she prepares for a career as a neonatal nurse, she remains convinced that SJHS offers students an opportunity to discover their own potential the way that she did. She advises current students to take advantage of all the resources available to them, and most importantly to discover the teachers whose classes they find both challenging and interesting, and foster a relationship with them. "The high expectations at SJHS lay a foundation for the rest of your life," she explains. "Don't take anything for granted; embrace it all!"

"The high expectations at SJHS lay the foundation for the rest of your life"

FAREWELL

MR. TOUHEY

A MAN OF QUIET FAITH

In 1999, John Touhey arrived on the doorstep of St Joseph High School fresh out of divinity school. Following years as a successful businessman, Mr. Touhey was ready to give back.

In his 19 years at SJHS, Mr. Touhey taught religion, social responsibility and drama. He supervised, guided and mentored. He laughed, listened and disciplined. He was the first male assistant principal within the Sisters of St Joseph schools.

Mr. Touhey shared many cultural experiences as well as his passion for art and performance with SJHS students.

Mr. Touhey instituted the Senior Retreat when he taught Senior Religion; this cornerstone event for seniors continues to shape the St Joseph senior year. Mr. Touhey has given his heart and soul to SJHS. He touched many many lives and we wish him all the best as he moves on to his next endeavors. (You may hear from him sooner than you think....)

"You were a great role model and a positive male figure. I can't thank you enough for everything you've done for me."

RAQUEL MARTINEZ '03

"You helped me realize my dream of being in the Peace Corps. Your office was a safe haven for me and my classmates."

ZARI HAVERCOME '12

"You motivate me and others to be the best version of ourselves."

KRYSTAL MALDONADO '12

MRS. QUINTEROS

Mrs. Quinteros, a native Spanish speaker, came to St Joseph in 2006 after the closing of the Transfiguration School.

Though she taught many Spanish classes over her twelve year tenure, Mrs. Quinteros might be best known for her undying support of Spanish culture, her celebration of Hispanic Heritage month, her tradition of celebrating the Christmas holidays by leading students in joyful Spanish Christmas carols and her dedication to and leadership of the students in the National Honor Society.

As a homeroom teacher, Mrs. Quinteros was always there for her students, listening and understanding in hard times and celebrating in good times. We wish you well and say, "Gracias, y vaya con dios."

She did not hesitate to offer her services in many ways.

MENTOR/MENTEE PROGRAM

Mentor a young woman and change two lives – hers and yours!

I have been involved at St. Joseph High School for close to 20 years serving on the board, working in college counseling, development and school advancement. During this time I have worked closely with students in groups and individually. Ten years ago, I started working one on one with students and found it to be enormously rewarding. I feel that I have made a life-changing difference in my mentees' lives and they in mine.

My first mentee was a recent immigrant from China. She arrived at St. Joseph speaking very little English and her parents did not speak any English at all. She was ambitious, determined and hard working. While she was willing to put in the hours necessary to be successful academically, she needed someone to help advocate for her and navigate the college process. She started college at BMCC and graduated from Baruch college with a degree in finance several years ago. We remain friends, celebrating the Chinese New Year and St. Patrick's Day on a regular basis.

The mentorship program is growing. We have four mentors in the program working with and supporting students. The program consists of providing guidance and helping a student with the challenges of high school and planning for her future. All of the students in the program are on substantial scholarship and contributing financial support is also part of the commitment.

Johanna Von Maack and Atta Ofori-Gould at The Brooklyn Museum with NY Liberty star Tina Charles

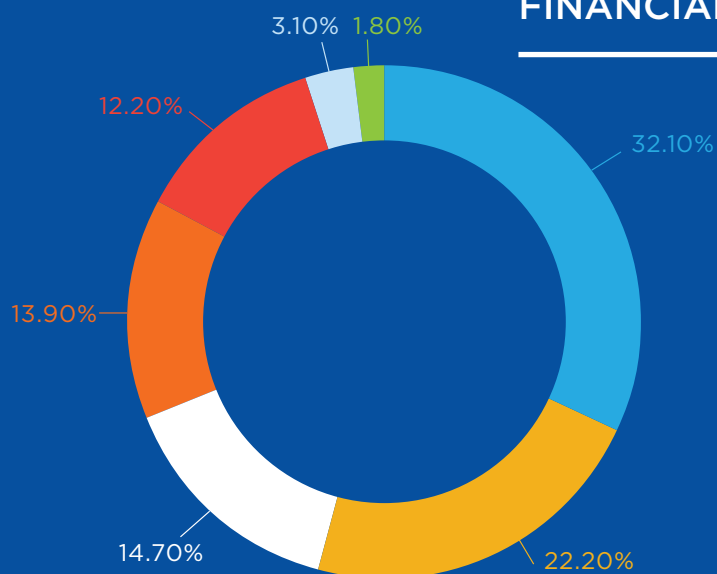

The program participants meet individually and as a group several times a year to go on cultural and enrichment outings. To date we have visited the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Brooklyn Museum and the Brooklyn Historical Society. The program is growing and we welcome others who would like to join us in working with young women –education, enrichment, assimilation, and success. Please feel free to contact Candace Ovid, Director of Development at covid@sjhsbridge.org or 718-624-3618.

Please consider joining us as a mentor—you will be enriched.

ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIPS

Endowed Scholarships provide vital support for SJHS students, particularly to high-achieving young women whose families cannot afford our modest tuition. Scholarships may be endowed in the donor's name or in honor or memory of a loved one, and may be paid in installments over several years. Endowing a scholarship would provide support for 10 years.

If you are interested in endowing a scholarship, please contact the Development Office at 718-624-3618 or email Candace Ovid, Director of Development, at covid@sjhsbridge.org.

SR. NORA ASHE, CSJ MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This scholarship was initiated in 2013 by alumnae, SJHS Board of Trustees, Sisters of St. Joseph, family, and friends in memory of S. Nora Ashe, history faculty at SJHS.

SR. EUGENIA CALABRESE, CSJ SCHOLARSHIP

This SJHS Board of Trustees endowed this full scholarship in 2007 in grateful recognition of Sister Eugenia's 17-year tenure as Principal of St. Joseph High School.

VIRGINIA KRASOWSKY CLARKE '46 MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This full scholarship in memory of Ginny Clarke was endowed by her husband, John P. Clarke, daughter, Jacqueline Gaughran, and friends.

KATHRYN M. CLEARY '25 MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This half scholarship was provided in 2007 by the estate of Kathryn M. Cleary '25.

PATRICIA ELAINE MCCONKEY CRYAN '51 MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This full scholarship is endowed by Patricia's husband, Frank Cryan, and their children and grandchildren. The scholarship is also a memorial to their daughter, Mary Eileen Cryan.

EUNICE LATHAM MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This quarter scholarship was established by the Barnard School Foundation in honor of Eunice Latham.

MARIA D'ALESSIO LONGO '66 HONOR SCHOLARSHIP

Susan Weinstein endowed this quarter scholarship in honor of her best friend, Maria D'Alessio Longo, on the occasion of Maria's 60th birthday on June 28, 2009.

DIANE D'AMATO URBAN '68 MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

Diane D'Amato Urban '68 was a hero who died on 9/11/01 in the World Trade Towers. She had the opportunity to escape but returned to assist colleagues who were injured. The scholarship was established in 2008 by her sister and brother-in-law, Theresa and Ray Corio.

FATHER DONALD J. KENNA MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This full scholarship was provided by alumna Linda Plttari '62 to honor Father Kenna – a faithful priest, a good friend, and a champion of the poor.

PATRICIA ENNIS KENT '59 MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This quarter scholarship, established in 2005, is provided by Christine Kent and Carolyn Herold, the daughters of Patricia Ennis Kent '59.

GIVING TO SJHS

IT'S EASY TO LEND YOUR SUPPORT TO ST. JOSEPH HIGH SCHOOL

ONLINE GIVING

The easiest way to donate to SJHS is by using your American Express, Mastercard, Visa or Discover Card on the St. Joseph High School website: www.stjosephhighschool.org (Click on the "Giving" menu item.)

GIFTS OF STOCK AND BONDS

Donating appreciated securities is another way of helping St. Joseph High School while also providing potential tax advantages for you. For example: If you purchased stock many years ago for $1,000, and it is now worth $10,000, an outright gift of that stock to St. Joseph High School would result in a charitable deduction of $10,000. You also avoid paying capital gains tax on the $9,000 of appreciation. For further information on how to transfer stock, please call the Development Department, below.

Gifts of any size are appreciated and help make a St. Joseph High School education more affordable for a deserving student while also fostering SJHS academic and extracurricular programs. There are many ways to offer your support:

CHECK OR MONEY ORDER

If you wish to make your gift by check or money order, kindly forward it to: St. Joseph High School, Office of Development, 80 Willoughby Street, Brooklyn, NY 11201. Checks or money orders should be made payable to St. Joseph High School.

CORPORATE MATCHING GIFTS

Many employers sponsor matching gift programs and will match any charitable contributions made by their employees and in many cases, even retirees and/or spouses. A matching gift allows your donation to go further. If your company offers such a program, request a matching gift form from your company's Benefits department. Complete and sign the form and send it in with your gift. We will do the rest.

"SPOTLIGHT" FOR PLANNED GIVING SJHS

My decision to include SJHS in my estate planning comes with the Hope of continuing the fine legacy of educating young women by providing a solid base from which they may discern their future career path be it higher education, business or the many more avenues that will open to them in the future. It is my hope that the Legacy of SJHS continues well into the future and I encourage my fellow alumnae to consider including SJHS in their estate planning so that young women may continue their life journey that begins at SJHS.

Dianne B. Piwinski | Class of 1968
